

FROM THE DIRECTOR'S CHAIR

A MESSAGE FROM OUR EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

We are celebrating a spectacular anniversary season where all facets of OTP shined, shows were sold out and many new customers discovered the quality that OTP provides for our region. Every inch of the building and more spaces out in the community were used, including a first ever production at the Milliken Auditorium. We stretched ourselves with special presentations and different formats like dinner theatre and expanded Staged Readings.

Aged To Perfection reformatted their bi-monthly meetings to experiment with different material. More people joined in these meetings. Their latest performance included a set and props.

Young Company continues to grow and stretch, adding new programming to appeal to a greater number of youth. Their growth is only limited by space and we strive to solve that.

Despite inflationary increases in expenses, OTP had a financially sound season. It is simply amazing what can be accomplished on a tight budget. Our success is supported by many donors and business sponsors and hundreds of volunteers that enable the magic on stage to happen.

During this busy season, our Board of Trustees has been hard at work putting together a strategic plan that leads us to a new building in five years. We always say that there is a role for everyone; we want to ensure there is room for everyone. See the full plan HERE (link).

The Old Town Playhouse is a vibrant, sustainable community asset where people of all ages, backgrounds and abilities can participate and find joy. Today at OTP, our building, our hearts, and our vision for the future are overflowing.
